

From the Boston Traveller, Oct. 31.

Attempt to rob the Village Bank at Danvers—One of the Robbers Killed.

A short time since, the directors of the Village Bank at North Danvers, received information which rendered it probable that an attempt would shortly be made by a daring and expert gang of robbers, to break into and rob the bank.

They accordingly narrowly inspected the defence of their safe for such an attack, and having concluded that it would resist a pretty serious siege, they appointed a citizen of the town, named Aaron Bateman, as bank watchman.

This latter fact was not generally known in the town, and the robbers themselves were not probably aware of it.

At two o'clock this morning, Mr. Bateman heard three or four persons approaching the bank. They came to the door which is of glass to within a few feet of the bottom, and has no shutters, and hailed to know who was inside, to which the watchman replied that he was there; and to another query as to what he was there for, he replied, to guard the bank.

At that the robbers began to press against the door, as if with a view to burst it open. The watchman warned them to desist, saying that he was armed, and that if they entered he would shoot them. They still persisted, and he, fearing that their intention was to get in and overpower him, took up his gun, and fired amongst them, as they stood outside of the door.

The ball from the gun, it was afterwards ascertained, passed through one of the lower panes of glass, carrying away a part of the sash. Immediately after the discharge, the persons outside were seen to run; but one of them, who was evidently wounded, only went a few rods, when he staggered and fell. The others escaped in a carriage, which they brought with them to the bank.

The noise of the gun awakened Mr. John Page, an aged and estimable citizen of the village, who lives in the house nearest to the bank, and only a rod or two distant. He came out, but did not notice the body upon the ground, and returned into the house. Shortly after, however, he again came out, and was proceeding along in front of his dwelling, when he stumbled over the prostrate body.

He stooped down and discovered that it was his own son. He immediately returned to the house, and roused his son-in-law, Mr. Weston, who is Cashier of the bank, and together they carried him into the house.

At that time he was breathing, but senseless, and he shortly after died. Neither Mr. Weston nor Mr. Page then knew of the affair at the bank, they at first imagined that he had received a stab in some affray, but they soon had information of what had occurred.

The deceased was named John C. Page, and was unmarried. He was about 43 years old. Until within four or five years, he has carried on the brickmaking business to a large extent, and sustained a good character. Losses in business are said to have made him rather irregular in his habits. He returned to his father's house some time since, and it was generally hoped that he had reformed. His father is said to have provided liberally for all his wants.

This sad tragedy has caused a great excitement in the region round about the scene of its occurrence. A coroner's inquest is to be held upon the body, when the matter will no doubt be thoroughly investigated. Mr. Bateman, the chief actor in the affair, bears a good character among his townsmen.

Some time ago, the keys of the bank were stolen, and since that time the bank has been in apprehension of an attempted robbery.

It is supposed that the unfortunate man, when he found himself wounded, ran with an intention of getting into the house of his father, where he resided. He fell under an apple tree nearly in front of the house.

We learn further, that Mr. Bateman, after discharging the gun, remained in the bank, and did not know the result of the shot until morning, until which time the door was not opened. Also, that the robbers, after being warned by Mr. Bateman to desist under penalty of being shot, replied with an oath, that they were strong enough to get rid of or manage him.

It is also stated, but we do not vouch for its correctness, that there was another person in the bank, who can testify as to what passed between Mr. Bateman and the robbers.

The keys that were stolen from the bank some two years since, were taken from Mr. Weston's pillow. After the robbery of these keys was discovered, the Bank changed all their locks. Page had an aged mother, also, and brothers and sisters, who are plunged into the deepest affliction by his sad end.

It is often said, that truth is sometimes stranger than fiction, and who, upon reading the above narrative, will deny the fact. A son, in sight of his father's house, attempts, with his wicked companions, to rob a bank—the father is aroused by the noise of the gun which carries his son to his last account, and saluting out, stumbles over the dying body of that son, thus cut short in perhaps the beginning of his career of crime.

The Tail of the Comet
Is forty degrees in length, but so thin in substance that stars are visible through it. The marvellous tale of some nocturnal-wonders are nearly as long, and quite as easily seen through.

The proprietor of Dr. Guyot's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, however, has no occasion to resort to such tales in order to attract public attention.

The actual cure performed by the article, wherever it is introduced, is the basis upon which the reputation of the remedy is founded, as the hundreds of certificates of renewed health—health and life, that are continually flowing in upon, will prove.

Humboldt may flourish for a time, but a remedy must possess real medicinal virtues, to establish the reputation that Dr. Guyot's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has established wherever it has been used.

Of all diseases flesh is heir to we say, deliver us from Consumption. She with soft and stealthy steps, hurries the victim in a great many cases into another world, with constant and flattering hopes of a speedy recovery.

There are an hundred different articles now offered to the public, as great cures for this dreaded malady, but none have we seen that is entitled to the confidence we repose in Dr. Rogers' Compound Syrup of Liverwort and Tar.

We have heard and seen its effects, and the certificates too, of some of the leading men in Cincinnati are appended to the pamphlet. If you have a cough, use this medicine. If you are fearful that this dreadful disease is preying at your vitals, delay not, but take this and use it. It will not harm you, if it should possibly do you no good.

BOTTLED PORTER.—An Ohio paper states that a Miss Porter, in that State, has married a man by the name of Bottle. The editor says it is not only a good match, but proves that there are more ways than one to bottle porter.

Obituary.
Died, in Centerville, Ohio, on the 30th day of September last, after a severe illness, Miss SALYINA THOMPSON, aged 22 years 4 months and 22 days.

Miss Thompson having experienced the loss of a father when quite young, was deprived of many of the privileges with which so many are blest at the present day. Notwithstanding her privations, she lived to enjoy for a short season, the benefits of a cultivated mind and heart. She possessed many qualities of amiability—never thought her beneficent Creator a hard master—was a beloved associate, and the affectionate daughter of a most tender mother. She never appeared to anticipate a long life, and during the past summer, (even when in health,) has been heard to give evidence of a knowledge of her approaching death. Her sufferings, which were very intense toward the last, were endured with the greatest patience. She died in hope of a better world, leaving a bereaved mother and many friends to mourn her irreparable loss. But while we deeply sympathize with the friends of the deceased, we cannot but reflect upon our own weakness, in weeping for those we must so soon follow.

Say, mother, dear, why should you weep?
Or shed your tears for me;
You soon must sleep death's last long sleep,
Then me again you'll see.

Massachusetts Election.

Boston, Nov. 12th.

The returns indicate that there is no election of Governor by the people, in which case it goes to the Legislature. The following is the vote for Governor:

Boston city, Briggs, Whig, 942; something wrong in these figures.—E. J. Boutwell, Loco, 1903; Phillips, F. Soil, 1074. Briggs, as far as heard from, loses 400 votes in the State.

Congress.—1st district, Wm. Appleton, Whig, elected, 2d and 3d, no choice. 4th district, R. Frothingham, Loco, elected. 5th, Chas. Allen, F. S., has a majority of 287 over both Loco and Whig candidates. 6th, George P. Davis, Whig, is probably elected. 7th, John C. Goodrich, Whig, is reported to be elected. 8th, Horace Man is elected by 300 majority over both competitors. 9th, O. Fowler, F. S. candidate, is probably elected. From present appearances the Whigs will be in a minority on joint ballot, owing to a coalition between the Locos and F. Soilers, which will effect their success in electing a U. S. Senator in place of Winthrop, whose time expires next month.

Washington City, Nov. 12th.

George W. Hemmery, editor of the Lancaster Tribune, has been appointed postmaster at that place.

A letter from Kanesville says that a tremendous fire is raging in the prairie, doing immense damage to farmers. The wind was very high, which caused the flames to spread rapidly. The Indians were found firing the prairie in various places; this is a most dangerous and treacherous tribe; we refer to the Omaha tribe, who are likely to cause much trouble.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

The Great Remedy for Consumption of the Lungs, Affections of the Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, and other Affections of the Pulmonary Organs.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY is a fine herbal medicine: composed chiefly of Wild Cherry Bark, and the genuine Iceland Moss, (the latter in its purest form, for this purpose), the rare medicinal virtues of which are also combined by a new chemical process, with the extract of tar—thus rendering the whole compound the most certain and efficacious remedy ever discovered for

CONSUMPTION OF THE LUNGS.

Interesting Correspondence.—Dr. Wm. Y. Banks, of Xenia, Ohio, a highly respected Druggist in that delightful village has informed us that the sale of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is unparalleled. The demand for it is so great, that he can scarcely keep himself supplied with it. He has had in his store medicines for long affections. Some of these were esteemed good, and some were temporary relief. But since he has had Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, a number of the most serious cases were completely cured by its use.

"I never sold a medicine," says the Doctor, "in which I had that entire confidence that I have in this."

It Cures! Whenever Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is introduced, it at once attains that high reputation which it so richly deserves. What can prevent its sale, when on every hand can be witnessed its wonderful and happy cures? The worst cases of Asthma, recent and dangerous coughs, and also those that are of long standing, Bronchitis or Consumption, (in its early stages), are always cured by this remarkable medicine.

HEREDITARY CONSUMPTION!

Cured by Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.—The following cure of Jeremiah Lagree, of Consumption, (five of his brothers and sisters having died of Consumption), is truly wonderful. Ought not this to urge the afflicted to the use of this health-giving remedy, when it is affecting cures like the following:

PLEASANT RIDGE, Hamilton Co., O., September 27, 1850.

J. D. PARK—Dear Sir: I take the liberty of advising you of the benefit that I have derived from the use of "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," which I was procured by that very source Consumption in May last. The attack was truly horrid, for me, for five of our family, (my brothers and sisters,) had died of Consumption. I was afflicted with nearly all of the worst features of the disease, I had distressing cough, and expectorated a great deal of blood, thick, severe pains in the side and chest, cold chills, alternating with flushes of heat and copious night sweats.

I was under the care of a skilled physician, from the time I was taken sick until about six weeks, being then about helpless, and my friends considering my case hopeless, or at least beyond the reach of any physician's skill, advised the use of "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry." Without my knowledge, my father procured it, and commenced administering it to me, and from the first day that I commenced taking it, my health improved, and in two weeks from the time I commenced using it, I was able to be out and oversee my business, and labor, with little or no rest. I have taken four bottles of the medicine, and now can consider myself perfectly well. I make this statement to induce others that are afflicted as I have been, to make trial of "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," which remedy has, under the blessing of Providence, cured my Consumption, and I am now well.

JEREMIAH LAGREE.

Still further evidence of the remarkable curative properties of this inestimable preparation:

REBELVILLE, Brown Co., O., Aug. 21, 1849.

Messrs. Sanford & Park—Gentlemen:—About six weeks ago I received the agency of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, but with some reluctance on my part, for the reason that I had been the agent of so many pills and other nostrums, which were cracked up to be something wonderful, but which turned out in the end to be of no account whatever. I sent for the medicine, but I turned out to be the manufacturer. But I candidly admit that this time I have been deceived, for the extraordinary cures effected by Wistar's Balsam have convinced me that good can come out of Nazareth. Your agent left me two bottles, which are all gone—having been the means of curing several obstinate cases of Consumption, and no mistake; for what I see and know, I am bound to believe. One case in particular, a young gentleman in Winchester, Adams Co., Ohio, came from this place, and gave him a call, as he is determined to sell at a low and fair price.

Cash paid for Ginseng, Flaxseed, Beeswax and Sassafras Root.
